For several nights the earth will tremble

LAST is a pun – meaning lasting a long time and also meaning after all these events the Astronomical Unit (orbit) is changed

Take Measure of the earthquakes that ruin the land – getting worse

SUN RISE is also a pun – time of the day and what is happening to the sun as it grows; solar flares... – also where it is happening!

PUSIL UP are the smaller greys

TILETANUS = aka Ravesteyn (Ravestein 1506 – 1570 a coincidence that he was contemporaneous with Nostradamus?) works include: "Epistola Ven. Patri Laurentio Villavincenno", against Baianism; "was the comma... to be placed after intento or after possent, the meaning being reversed accordingly as the comma came after the one or after the other word"? The pope evading the issue at hand: that of Other Worlders

In the template of the Hidden Texts appear several other lines which refer to TILETANUS so they have been placed here – even if they have nothing to do with asteroids... It is to be pointed out that the word can be broken into ANU, (the Anun.nakim) T (is the sky rune for Ursa Major central) TILES (for the False Rapture – they have Maya numerals on them and are meant to be given out to those in the "queue". In reality these people will be taken to the "piggery" in the sky, says Nostradamus) ~ the "elect" will not have to queue for the real event of "being lifted up". Herein is the difference between those Off Worlders who are doing the false rapture (the Siriac in league with the Anu... The Mayan numerals on the tiles give this one away, because Quetzal.coatl is an Anu.nakim) and those who genuinely come to help – from the Pleiades, Arcturus and Tau Ceti. It will be the craft they arrive in that will give away any false shapeshifters pretending to be the cat eyed tall blonds or the "Nordic" Tau Cetis.

The dangerous craft are those shaped like a rectangle cube, Roman Candles, or cylinder, and the jellyfish or animalistic shaped craft.

LEONARDO said:

“Many communities will there be who will hide themselves and their young and their victuals within gloomy caverns, and there in dark places will sustain themselves and their families for many months without any light either artificial or natural”

WHY? What do they need to hide from?

Those at Cappadocia must have had help, and the illumination mentioned below would explain being able to live and prosper for long months without sunlight “... Kolosimo in Timeless Earth writes of a tunnel system connecting Lima to Cuzco, [in Peru] and from there it continues to the Bolivian border. He wrote:

'Apart from the lure of gain, these tunnels present a fascinating archaeological problem. Scholars agree that they were not made by the Incas themselves, who used them but were ignorant of their origin. They are in fact so imposing that it does not seem absurd to conjecture, as some scientists have done, that they are the handiwork of an UNKNOWN RACE of Giants'...

"... 'One legend—if it be that!—says that the [global] tunnels lead to a subterranean world of Antediluvian descent somewhere in a recess of Afghanistan, or in the region of the Hindu Kush... given [the] name Agharti... a labyrinth of tunnels and underground passages is extended in a series of links connecting Agharti with all other such subterranean worlds!... The subterranean world it is said, is lit by a strange green luminescence which favors the growth of crops and conduces to length of days and health.'

"This last account is of special interest as Kolosimo refers to this green fluorescence in another part of the world. He writes in Timeless Earth about a strange 'bottomless well' in Azerbaijan in the Soviet Union. Apparently, a bluish [aquamarine] light comes from its wall and odd noises are heard. Eventually, after investigating and exploring, scientists found a whole system of tunnels connecting with other ones in Georgia and all over the Caucasus."

Greg Jenner

"... The Tibetans believe that the tunnels are citadels, the last of which still afford refuge to the survivors of an immense cataclysm. [Triggered by the return of Nibiru—GJ] This unknown people is said to make use of an underground SOURCE OF ENERGY which replaces that of the sun causing plants to breed and prolonging human life..."

In 3 45 1 is the description of "PI" also known as "PHI" – the "cochleary" of a snail's tail shown here

December 13th is St Lucy's Day

Phi is 1.618 the golden ratio
The angle of .5 Phi is 36 degrees, of which there are 10 in a circle or 5 of in pi radians Pi is 3.1416 etc

The golden ratio is often called the golden section (Latin: sectio aurea) or golden mean.^{[3][4][5]} Other names include extreme and mean ratio,^[6] medial section, divine proportion, divine section (Latin: sectio divina), golden proportion, golden cut,^[7] golden number, and mean of Phidias.

Adolf Zeising, whose main interests were mathematics and philosophy, found the golden ratio expressed in the arrangement of branches along the stems of plants and of veins in leaves. He extended his research to the skeletons of animals and the branchings of their veins and nerves, to the proportions of chemical compounds and the geometry of crystals, even to the use of proportion in artistic endeavours. In these phenomena he saw the golden ratio operating as a universal law

A detail of an Aeonium tabuliforme in Trädgårdsföreningen, Göteborg

The vignette on the right is all about the spiral of the golden ratio. Between Scorpio and the following Aries; this is in relation to orbits. See the bends in the banners of the Milky Way – that is OUR view

If ϕ were rational, then it would be the ratio of sides of a rectangle with integer sides. But it is also a ratio of sides, which are also integers, of the smaller rectangle obtained by deleting a square. The sequence of decreasing integer side lengths formed by deleting squares cannot be continued indefinitely, so ϕ cannot be rational.

LAMENT (PROPHECY) OF HERMES THE EGYPTIAN

"Do you not know, Asclepius, that Egypt is an image of heaven¹ or, to be more precise, that everything governed and moved in heaven came down to Egypt² and was transferred there? If truth were told, our land is the temple of the whole world."

"And yet, since it befits the wise to know all things in advance, of this you must not remain ignorant: a time will come when it will appear that the Egyptians paid respect to divinity with faithful mind and painstaking reverence — to no purpose³. All their holy worship will be disappointed and perish without effect⁴, for divinity will return from heaven to earth, then Egypt will be abandoned. The land that was the seat of reverence will be widowed by the powers and left destitute of their presence. When foreigners occupy⁵ the land and territory, not only will reverence fall into neglect but, even harder, a prohibition under penalty prescribed by (so-called) law will be enacted against reverence, fidelity and divine worship. Then this most holy land, seat of shrines and temples, will be filled completely with tombs and corpses."

"O Egypt, Egypt, of your reverent deeds only stories will survive, and they will be incredible⁶ to your children! Only words cut in stone will survive⁷ to tell your faithful works, and the Scythian or Indian or some such neighbour⁸ barbarian will dwell in Egypt.

For divinity goes back to heaven, and all the people will die, deserted, as Egypt will be widowed and deserted by god and human⁹.

I call to you, most holy river, and I tell your future: a torrent of blood will fill you to the banks, and they will burst over you; not only will blood¹⁰ pollute your divine waters, it will also make them break out everywhere, and the number of the entombed will be much larger than the living. Whoever survives will be recognized as Egyptian only by his language; in his actions he will seem a foreigner¹¹."

Excerpt from the Hermetic treatise called Asclepius

(translation from the Latin by Professor Brian P. Copenhaver of the University of California, first published 1992)

Is the temple of the whole world: Giza is actually at the centre of the measured world

² governed and moved in heaven came down to Egypt: from heaven (the skies) "came down" to construct the pyramids, to provide power sources

³ to no purpose: due to political leadership falling into the hands of a Muslim, and due to ancient technology being kept a thorough secret

⁴ disappointed and perish without effect: all previous efforts of worship have been made in vain

Left destitute of their presence: Nostradamus states that Giza will be "cremated" by a "slayer ray" – "widowed" by radioactivity?

⁵ foreigners occupy: "some such neighbour" see ⁸

So called law – Sharia law

⁶ will be incredible: the reverent deeds will seem like magic – due to the high technology used but kept secret by archaeologists

⁷ Only words cut in stone will survive: this includes all warnings from the past to us here and now

⁸ some such neighbor Since Scythia (Mongolia) and India are to the east, it is an eastern neighbour which is described. This refers to the Muslim

⁹ by god and human: all divinity came from the heavens and returned, leaving the people undelivered in their ignorance & radioactive?

¹⁰ not only will blood pollute: this is a reference to "polluted bloodlines" which is very important to those who consider themselves "elite"

¹¹ in his actions he will seem a foreigner: his actions (such as praying to Mecca), the terrorist acts made in order to earn '72' virgins when they die – which is a reference to 'Egypt will be widowed'

The date of the conversation between Hermes and Asclepius can be determined about two generations prior to Troy, since two sons of Asclepius were killed there. This could mean any of the generations of Troy as a city as there were several layers to Troy. Homer of Troy is said to have been a Pleiadian, and Hermes is said to be an Anu.

EXPLANATION OF CIPHER DATES of NOSTRADAMUS:

From "en chiffre" which means "cipher" which originally meant the numeral "nought" is derived from one of five dates which were pertinent to the first use of the number "nought", or zero - whose alternate word is "cipher".

"Zero" and "cipher" are both names for the number 0, but the use of "cipher" for the number is rare and only literary in English today.^[1] They are doublets, which means they have entered the language through different routes but have the same etymological root, which is the Arabic "صفر" (which transliterates as "sifr"). Via Italian this became "zefiro" and thence "zero" in modern English, Portuguese, French, and Italian ("cero" in Spanish). But via Spanish it became "cifra" and thence "cifre" in Old French and "cipher" in modern English (and "chiffre" in modern French).^[2]

"Zero" is more commonly used in mathematics and science, whereas "cipher" is used only in a literary style. Both also have other connotations. One may refer to a person as being a "social cipher", but would name them "Mr. Zero", for example.^[2]

In his discussion of "naught" and "nought" in Modern English Usage, H. W. Fowler uses "cipher" to name the number 0.^[3] Wiki the use of a positional notation is first attested to in the Jain text from India entitled the Lokavibhāga, dated 458 AD and it was only in the early 13th century that these concepts, transmitted via the scholarship of the Arabic world, were introduced into Europe by Fibonacci^[3] using the Hindu-Arabic numeral system.

Who Invented Zero

There are many theories and speculations regarding who invented zero. One of the most persistent is that the number was first used in 9th century AD India. According to some legends, the number was invented by the Indian mathematician Aryabhata.

Other Theories

Not all historians agree. Some are of the opinion that it was created by Pingala the Indian scholar. Together with other researchers, they used certain Sanskrit words that when translated was zero. There are also suggestions that the number did not originate in India.

According to some accounts, the number was employed by the Mayan civilization in their calendars. There are also groups of scholars who hold that the number zero dates back to 300 BC during the time of the Babylonians.

There is evidence that zero was included in Roman numerals by the year 525AD. The first person recorded to have used it was Dionysius Exiguus. However, the Romans did not have a specific number or symbol for it. They simply used the word nulla to express nothing.

Recorded Written Usage

The oldest text to have the word zero is the Jain text of India. It dates from 458 AD. The oldest known symbolic use of zero is a stone inscription dating from 876 AD (9th century) It is also from India.

Anyone who wants to discover who invented zero will hear about the Persian scientist Khwarizmi. He was one of the first to use it in mathematics. His book on arithmetic in 825 AD (9th century) included the number. The work is notable for explaining how the number zero is used.

M. Nostradamus

The original Latin written by Nostradamus includes this paragraph:

“Brototium meum iamdudum Parca rapuit, quae (Fem.) quidquid est apud nos boni quamprimum sibi vendicat. P. Brototius filius iuvenis est admodum et [69 v^o] ista parum curare videtur. Porro autem tales sunt plerumque nostrae literae, quae si vel non perferantur vel negligentius habeantur, non parum ea res nos offensura sit.”

Salone Petraea Provinciae Galliae

Salon-of-Crau

idibus Octobris 15, 1561.

The original name Parca above, was taken as masculine by the translator/s but ‘quae’ is the female – albeit they still spelt it PARKS in the English, as translated from the Latin Parca

THE TRANSLATOR'S ENGLISH

“Here already it has been some time that my dear Brotot was delighted by Parks, who took hold [of our mandate] those things amongst which must be done by him [herself] (being) as a priority the more important [thing] among us.”

THE ENGLISH SHOULD BE SAYING ‘HER’ – BUT DOES NOT BECAUSE THE TRANSLATOR/S DID NOT KNOW WHAT THE SUBJECT REALLY WAS ABOUT – THE HANDING OF THE ‘LITERARY WORKS’ TO A FEMALE PERSON IN THE FUTURE – THIS GENDER ISSUE IS REITERATED BY THE LATIN WORDS WHICH FOLLOWED IN LETTER 32 after the word ‘jasper’, YET WERE NOT TRANSLATED INTO THE ENGLISH; THEY WERE JUST LEFT ‘HANGING’ ie:

Moreover indication is (in evidence) she is unharmed by infection in the pelvis because of her bad decision (caused by the Dalkon shield) autem (moreover) datae (evidence provides) illae (cost her/unharmed) ad (by) fonts (pelvis/also means Sagittarius-Scorpio – quite so) febriles (fever) prope (close to, because of) tua (f: your) mapalia (bad decision)

“Parca... who has the ears to hear whatsoever amongst our mandate
To undergo delivery forthwith”

Parca rapuit, {took hold of, grabbed}

quae : (neut. pl. acc.) those things WHICH we must have done

QUAE : (fem. nom.) Let THOSE (women) WHO have ears to hear

quicquid whoever, whatever, whatsoever spelt 'quidquid' here apud at, among, in the presence of, at the house of nos WE/US boni BEST
 quamprimum [forthwith] sibi [to undergo] vindicat [delivery].

translations (c) 2002 by participating members of the Nostradamus Research Group and Peter Lemesurier (the guy who went through the quatrains and "FIXED" the SPELLING!) This probably was a good thing, because Erika Cheetham understood that the spelling might have to be left how it appeared – and she was right, she possibly is one of the 'women' who were listening properly
 i.e. "have the ears to hear" – thus fulfilling the intent of the Latin word QUAE

[From the translators: "Note the evidently planned and deliberate acrostic ...

This, plus the fact that the original poem is written in the approved Virgilian hexameters, seems suspiciously non-inspirational.

The classical allusions seem even more so, so possibly putting the seal on some readers' suspicions that the poem is not inspired at all, but a carefully-constructed artifice.

QUITE SO – WHEN NOSTRADAMUS PUTS THINGS IN UPPER CASE – THOSE MUST BE ANAGRAMMED

Perseus is named as a cup holder because the rune Perthro (the dice cup) belongs to Perseus (Algol). Ganymede is a moon of Jupiter and last but not least Hebe is a main belt asteroid more dense than the Moon. In this instance it simply means an asteroid, which greatly tries the abilities of either the Grayles (of the treaties with the American military) or the Graals of Cassiopeia of the "Super Lunar Nurseries".
